NASCAR Drivers Set to Reach Milestones

2019 offers several NASCAR Cup Series drivers the chance to hit milestone moments in their careers. These drivers are inching closer to the legends in several categories, including tying Richard Petty in combined wins. The following are some of the feats drivers could accomplish this season:

650 Cup starts – Kurt Busch (648), Kevin Harvick (646). With the most starts among active drivers, Busch and Harvick have will be 18 races away from Hall of Famer Dale Jarrett’s mark once they hit 650 starts.

625 Cup starts – Ryan Newman (620), Jimmie Johnson (615). Only 25 drivers in NASCAR history have made at least 625 Cup starts, includes drivers such as Hall of Famers Jeff Gordon, Bill Elliott and Darrell Waltrip. Johnson would also pass Tony Stewart, who has 618 starts.

500 Cup starts – Kyle Busch (498), Martin Truex Jr. (477), Clint Bowyer (469). Kyle Busch, at 33, would be the youngest, currently active driver to reach the 500-start mark.

1,150 combined starts – Kevin Harvick (1,115). With 1,150 combined starts, Harvick would move up to third on the all-time list, passing Mark Martin (1,143).

1,000 combined starts – Kyle Busch (988). Twelve combined starts in 2019 would move Busch to ninth on the all-time list. He and Kevin Harvick have made the most combined starts among active drivers.

625 consecutive starts – Jimmie Johnson (612), Ryan Newman (612), Kevin Harvick (604). Only seven Cup Series drivers have made 625 or more consecutive starts, and none are currently active drivers. Johnson and Newman would also tie Dale Earnhardt (648) on the all-time list if they started every Cup Series race this year.

500 consecutive starts – Clint Bowyer (468), Truex (468). Both drivers are scheduled to hit the 500-straight-races mark at Kansas Speedway on October 20, putting them just 13 spots away from Richard Petty, who made 513 consecutive starts from November 14, 1971 to March 19, 1989.

50 Cup wins – Kevin Harvick (45). With 50 Cup wins, Harvick would tie Junior Johnson and Ned Jarrett, and pass his team owner Tony Stewart (49).

30 Cup wins – Brad Keselowski (27). Keselowski would tie Kurt Busch if he reaches 30 victories. Only 26 drivers (and five active drivers) in NASCAR history have reached the 30-plus win milestone.

25 Cup wins – Joey Logano (21), Martin Truex Jr. (19). In NASCAR history, 33 drivers have won 25 or more times in the premier series. At the 25-win mark, Logano and Truex would pass Ricky Rudd and Terry Labonte, and tie Joe Weatherly and Jim Paschal.

200 combined wins – Kyle Busch (194). Six wins in 2019 – in any series – would tie Busch with 200-time winner Richard Petty with the most combined victories in NASCAR history.

75 combined wins – Brad Keselowski (67). With eight victories across all three series in 2019, Keselowski would pass Matt Kenseth and Carl Edwards, putting 83-time winner Cale Yarborough in his sights.

25 career poles – Joey Logano (20), Martin Truex Jr. (19). By earning 25 Busch Pole Awards, Logano and Truex would pass Alan Kulwicki (24), Ken Schrader (23), and Dale Earnhardt (23).

This year promises to be an exciting one, as these drivers each get closer to their personal NASCAR milestones.
