

LYNNE + KEITH

You are a superhero.

While the choices you're facing may feel impossible at times, you've put on your cape and are moving forward. We believe you're strong and we know you can do anything. There's so much more we'd like to say about the decisions you're considering, but for now we say a simple, "Thank you for learning more about us." Because really...what else do you say to a real-life Wonder Woman?

K+L

Kids can never have too much love and we've got lots to give. We both come from large families, have big groups of friends we consider part of our family and even have three adopted dogs (Ossi, Eli and Zoe). Though we're unable to have children biologically, we believe that love grows bigger and more powerful the more people you let into your heart. And we can't wait for our hearts to grow with the love of a little one.

Fun facts about Lynne

- Works from home with her own writing and social media business.
- Believes strongly in helping others. Volunteers and contributes to several organizations and serves on the board for an organization helping seniors living in poverty.
- Looks forward to bedtime stories, fun in the kitchen (she and Keith often cook together) and taking family dog walks.
- Finds joy in spending time with friends and family. Celebrations are always noisy, fun, kid-friendly times that memories are made of.

Family First

We are close to both our families and have big extended families. We celebrate holidays, birthdays, special occasions and Keith's family even has a reunion every year with more than 60 people!

Our home is filled with light, love, joy and laughter. And sometimes dog kisses

Fun facts about Keith

- Is a web designer.
- Can pack the trunk of a car like it's a game of Tetris (he originally studied engineering before getting his degree in graphic design).
- Kind and generous and will do just about anything to help his family, friends and even strangers.
- He loves (loves!) soccer and plays goalie for two rec teams. When he's not playing soccer, he's watching soccer.
- Loves music and collecting vintage toys from Star Wars to the Simpsons.

Thank you!

Thank you for considering us. We look forward to getting to know you and are happy to answer any questions you might have or provide more information, if you'd like. We are very happy to consider an ongoing relationship (open adoption), if you wish. Contact us any time.
